BATTLE OF THE BISON FOREST

The European Bison is still alive today in one small fragment of ancient forest in north-east Poland. The forest has never been felled and to visit it is to journey back in time to Stone Age Europe, where the glades are dominated by the great bisons reaching heights of six feet at the shoulder.

Filmed by Tony & Liz Bomford.
Produced by Jeremy Bradshaw.

WHEN IS A BUFFALO A BISON

The buffalo, moose and the beaver, generally considered as all-American species - originated in Europe and Asia, crossing into North America via a land bridge that was drowned.
Now, the only part of Europe where all three still co-exist is Poland's Bialowieza Forest.

Filmed by Tony & Liz Bomford.
Produced by Jeremy Bradshaw.

THE RETURN OF THE BISON

This film follows the life history of the Bison in fascinating detail, from the first stumbling steps of the new-born calf to the awesome battles between rutting bulls. The climax is reached with the annual round-up of the biggest bison herd, thirteen hundred strong, in the Custer State Park in South Dakota.

Filmed by Jeff Foott.
Produced by Colin Willock.
